Creatures of the Night - Winter Lecture at the TNC

Often stereotyped as sinister and dangerous, bats are among the most beneficial animals for humans - providing free pest control and indirectly helping our health, agriculture, and water quality. Join Conserve Wildlife Foundation biologist Ethan Gilardi on a lively talk exploring common myths and misconceptions about bats, spotlighting current threats to New Jersey's bats, and discussing what you can do to help them. Sponsored by the Mercer County Park Commission.

Free. Registration Required:
